Description

Opportunity takes shape at 103 Edison Cir, where a three-bedroom, one-and-a-half-bath ranch awaits a buyer ready to restore its character and create a home tailored to a personal vision. Offering 1,485 square feet on one floor, this Spartanburg property presents a practical footprint for renovation, redesign, and value-building improvements. The interior offers enough room to rethink finishes, refresh gathering spaces, and give each bedroom a distinct purpose. One could remain a traditional sleeping space, while another might become an office, studio, or hobby room. A full bathroom plus a half bathroom supports everyday function while leaving scope for cosmetic updates and creative choices. The brick exterior provides a classic starting point, and two notable mechanical details may help shape renovation planning: the roof is only six years old, and the heat pump was installed in June. Central cooling is also included. Rather than paying for someone else's design decisions, the next owner can choose the colors, materials, fixtures, and layout touches that fit their own style. This is not a finished showcase; it is a genuine renovation opportunity for someone who sees possibility beyond the present condition. Whether your plans call for a thoughtful refresh or a more substantial transformation, the home offers a manageable canvas with established essentials already in place. Bring your imagination, renovation resources, and design ideas to 103 Edison Cir. With vision and effort, this Spartanburg property could begin an exciting next chapter.
