Description

If you have been looking for something with a little more personality than the typical floor plan, this may be the one! This mid-century modern contemporary home with 3 bedrooms and 2 full baths is full of potential—inside and out. With a massive new deck, two private balconies and windows galore, this home was designed to help you enjoy the outdoors, even when you are inside! Double entry doors welcome you into a light-filled foyer and an impressive vaulted living room that is spacious, open and anchored by a beautiful fireplace. The dining room is just off the living room with plenty of space for entertaining, and the huge outdoor deck becomes a natural extension of the living area. The kitchen is a good size, functional and ready for someone to make it their own, with all kitchen appliances conveying. The contemporary staircase leading to the second floor is full of character, with a large window bringing in even more natural light. Upstairs, the unique design continues with an open loft overlooking the living room below. Two large bedrooms share a spacious bathroom, and the laundry room is conveniently located on this level. The backyard may be one of the best surprises. In addition to all that outdoor space, there is a workshop with electricity that could become so much more with a little imagination—workshop, studio, garden space or the perfect backyard hangout. Located in Clinton, home to the beautiful campus of Presbyterian College and a downtown that is seeing exciting new energy, this is a home with character, space and so much potential. Come see what you could make of it!
