Description

Located in the heart of Downtown Charleston, 210 Line Street presents a rare opportunity to own in one of the city's fastest-growing neighborhoods. Currently the lowest price per square foot livable property listed above the Crosstown--priced roughly 30% below the next closest active listing and more than 50% below the area average--this property offers exceptional value with tremendous upside potential. Surrounded by homes selling near and above the $1M mark, the home is ideal for investors, renovators, or buyers looking to secure a foothold in a rapidly appreciating area. Inside, the property offers comfortable living today along with substantial basement/lower-level potential for future expansion, additional living space, storage, or customization. The location places you just moments from MUSC, Hampton Park, Upper King Street, restaurants, coffee shops, and some of Charleston's best dining and entertainment. With strong rental demand and limited opportunities at this price point, 210 Line Street combines location, flexibility, and long-term potential into one compelling package.
