Description

Welcome to 980 Highway 747, where peaceful country living, extra space, and the freedom to truly make a place your own all come together! This charming 3-bedroom, 2-bath home sits on approximately half an acre in the Loris countryside and offers the kind of space and relaxed lifestyle that can be hard to find. From the moment you arrive, you can imagine leaving the hustle and bustle behind and coming home to your own little piece of the country. Start your mornings with a cup of coffee while enjoying the peace and quiet, spend your afternoons working on a project, tending a garden, playing with the pets, or simply enjoying the outdoors, and end the day gathered with family and friends for a cookout under the Carolina sky. Inside, the three-bedroom, two-bath layout provides plenty of flexibility whether you need room for family, overnight guests, a home office, hobby space, or simply a little extra room to spread out. The enclosed carport adds even more usable space and possibilities, while the separate storage shed gives you a convenient place for lawn equipment, tools, outdoor gear, and all those extras you don't want taking up space inside the home. With approximately half an acre, there's room to enjoy your property and create an outdoor space that fits the way you want to live. Best of all, you can enjoy the slower pace and charm of country living without giving up access to the places you need and love, with Loris, Conway, and the shopping, dining, entertainment, and beaches of the Grand Strand all within reach. Whether you're searching for your first home, looking for more room for your family, ready to escape a crowded neighborhood, or simply dreaming of a place where life can move at a little slower pace, 980 Highway 747 offers the opportunity to create something that's truly yours. Come experience the space, the possibilities, and the simple pleasure of country living—you may just find the place you've been waiting to call home.
